

A Quote from Bradley A Boyd,

Senior Project Control Engineer, Parsons Corporation

Dominique has a deep well of experience, and from that, she established protocols and Best Practices / Industry Working Standards for everything we did on our recent project together. In particular, her strengths in how to manage client (both internal to the team and external) expectations and team performance throughout various phases of project delivery was impressive and at a very high level of professionalism.

She would be a valuable, very strong asset added to Parsons Corporation and would fit in well with the Parsons One mantra.

3rd December 2014